

Agnes M. Mazyck

February 10, 1949 - March 10, 2019

Agnes Marie Mazyck, (affectionately known as momma, grandma, Agnes, “Aggie Poo”, smurf, and sister Dynamite!), was born to the late Oliver Seth Cooper and Gracie Otelia Johnson on February 10, 1949 in Brunswick County Virginia. She departed this life in peace, and dignity, surrounded by loving family and friends. Agnes was second oldest of seven children, five girls, two boys. Only 4 ft, 11 inches in height, her toughness was the size of a giant.

She received her education in Baltimore City Public School. Although only completing the eighth grade, one could say that Agnes graduated from Princeton, Yale and Harvard Schools of life. She prided herself in the common-sense way of dealing with life in Baltimore City. She was extremely knowledgeable about politics, economics, and could speak on any subject with anyone. She would spend many hours over the last few months discussing just about every topic on CNN. She had exclusive details on Donald Trump and the entire White House staff. She would break a story before it would become mainstream news.

Agnes worked for various nursing homes throughout Baltimore. She loved taking care of the sick but found her special talent in the kitchen! She later became head cook at both Bel-loc Diner, and the Pimlico Race Track. What a cook she was...at one family event, there was seafood salad, pot roast, fried chicken, roast turkey, macaroni and cheese, mashed potatoes, and ooh the pies, sweet potato, coconut custard, apple and cherry to name a few.

Clothes didn't wear Agnes, she wore the clothes. Her style was uniquely her own. Color was her friend. The brighter, the better. They were her symphony. We will miss the special names she gave to everything and everybody. One family friend she gave the name “Vietnam, Agent Orange and another, The Pharaoh”. Whether Agnes was right or wrong, she was always right.

Agnes joined, Pleadings Holiness Church and served as missionary and usher. Her many friends miss her energetic spirit and interesting perspective of scriptural lessons. Agnes would spend hours preparing for Sunday school each week. We were sure she was in pain, but she rarely complained. Still weak on Sunday morning, one of the last things she did was get dressed for church, unfortunately her strength failed but we all knew where her heart was. Occasionally, she was reminded that sickness can over take any of us, then she would remind us, that “Jesus died for us to live, not for us to die”. She truly tried to live life to its fullest.

Agnes loved her children, grandchildren and family. She would yell at them to cook, clean, go to the store, then, Agnes would do that for them instead. Her heart’s desire was simply to make everyone happy! Nick knacks, dolls and pictures of family, and friends are found on all the walls of the house. No one is ever tired of looking at all of those pictures, they remind us, that we are part of a big special family. If you look, your picture is there too.

She loved her memorial garden in her back yard. Last year she planted tomatoes, peppers and watermelons. At the hospital the staff could be heard greeting her as “Grandma”. Agnes had no strangers. Everyone was a friend.

Agnes was preceded in death by her loving and devoted husband Willie. They were married for more than 40 years. Theirs was truly a match made in heaven. Willie said Agnes had a good heart, Agnes said Zeek, (Willie) provided well for his family. They met while playing pool, and cards at a local speak easy in the neighborhood. Both Willie and Agnes were amazing cooks. Willie cooked most of the time until he took ill. Agnes lovingly cared for Willie until his death in September 2018. Sons, Antwon Lamont Cooper, Anthony Cooper-Bey, Colin Mazyck and daughter Marlene Mazyck preceded both Willie and Agnes in death.

Agnes leaves to mourn; five sons, Antonio Stokes (Lashawn), Daniel Coleman, Willie J. (Delores), Rodney, Edward Mazyck; five daughters, Dr. Mary M. (Bishop Allen) Wheeler, Karren, Valerie, Darlene Mazyck. Three sisters, Roberta Hester, Patricia Little, and Lillian (Malvin) Milburn; twenty-two grandchildren, a host of great grandchildren, nieces, nephews, and friends, special friends, Acrya Blue, Kevin and Robin Bryant, Tavon, Gwen Spruill and Mell (Babysis), who is more than an aunt.

“ Agnes, will be truly missed by all who have known her. I remember playing softball with Agnes over 30 years ago. She would be placed in the outfield and when the ball came her way, she would be yelling and laughing, causing the onlookers to laugh as well. She was a very gutsy lady, who always wanted to do everything and to love everyone. I will miss u, my friend.

“ Agnes was my sister, my mom, my best friend. I love her so much. She watched me grow. We have spent hours together just enjoying each other's company. I will miss her, but I will imitate her faith. She would say, " Jesus died so we can live". She would not spend a lot of time worrying about what she could not do. And neither will I. She cooked, worked hard in and out of her house. Just recently she traveled to the hospital , only 3 weeks ago on a bus and got lost trying to connect. She said , I spoke to everybody on the bus and laughed with people I didn't know. I kept an old man from falling and almost fell myself! It doesn't cost anything to say hello". There were days when I came to visit, Agnes would be outside picking up trash up and down the block. She said , just because we're poor, we don't have to be dirty. She was feisty, and strong, funny and intelligent. She loved her grandkids,children, friends and family. I love my sister
