"Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will help thee with the right hand of my righteousness." - Isaiah 41:10

On Friday, October 4, 2019 EVERETT THOMAS MURRAY departed this life peacefully. Everett endured many health challenges, but his spirits remained high until the very end. Everett was born on June 30, 1954 in Baltimore, Maryland to the late John T. and Marie E. Johnnie and Glen, two surviving brothers Gary, and Gregory and one loving sister Lorraine the oldest who was often treated like the youngest.

Everett attended Baltimore City Public Schools and graduated from Walbrook Sr. High School in 1974. As a child Everett enjoyed playing baseball and biking. Everett continued biking into his early adulthood.

Upon graduating high school, Everett held positions at Maryland Cup Company, Baltimore Gas and Electric Company and, he found his niche as a longshoreman at The Port of Baltimore a part of the International Longshoremen Association, Local #333 until his retirement in 2009. Everett enjoyed working as a longshoreman and made many lifelong friendships. Everett was very outgoing and enjoyed socializing with family, friends and sometimes strangers. While Everett was still working, often his son Ezar and he rode to work together and his famous words during the ride were "Ezar, why aren't you talking to me?" Needless to say, it was around 6:00 a.m. and Ezar was barely awake.

Everett met his loving wife, Jeannette Jackson and after many years of courtship, he won her hand in marriage in 1996. They bore one son, Ezar Everett Jackson. Everett enjoyed many activities during his free time, but his favorite activities with his family were long day trips and bowling. Everett could often be found at home in the kitchen, creating a variety of special dishes that brought much joy and laughter to his family and friends who often heard him say, "Try this, it's Good." Sometimes the dishes were only good to Everett. Everett truly loved his family and the joy of his life became his three grandchildren, Ramero, Zoe and Aiden. He looked forward to them coming to visit and loved giving them all types of treats and telling them "Don't tell your grandmother."

the life and memory of Everett will be forever cherished by: his wife, Jeannette; his son, Ezar; grandchildren, Ramero, Zoe, and Aiden; brothers, Gary and Gregory; his only sister, Lorraine Johnson; one sister-in-law, one brother-in-law, a host of nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends who often referred to him as a "good guy."
