

Ignatius Ebere Egbujonuma

May 10, 1956 - October 26, 2021

Not having my Father is one of the most difficult things I have gone through.

As I am standing up here today, I realize how fortunate I am to have Mr. Ignatius Egbujonuma as my Father. His passing has created an unfillable vacuum in my life. Words are not enough to express our father's influence on our life. It is through his example that I learned to be who I am today.

My father, MR. IGNATIUS EGBUJONUMA, son of Mr. and Mrs.

Egbujonuma Duru of Umuduruaro village, Umunkuta, Amiyi Akah

Autonomous Community, Njaba local Government area of Imo state.

He was the 4th child of his 4 siblings. My father had a decent childhood experience; he was raised by his two caring parents who encouraged and supported all his aspirations. After his high school education in Nigeria, he had a teaching job for a short period before he decided to migrate to the United states of America to advance his education with the support of his parents, he migrated to the United States in 1982. He went to a University and completed his master's degree level education; got a teaching job. He later left his teaching employment and owned his own business. He then went back to Nigeria and got married; unfortunately, this marriage did not work out well. He later got married to my mom, Mrs. Juliet Egbujonuma whom he loved dearly until his passing.

My father was hardworking, devoted, strong, loving, and gentle. He loved his family and was deeply devoted to my mother and six siblings. One of the biggest lessons I learned from my Dad is the value of hard work. He woke up every day, put on his shoes, and went to work to provide for our family. He truly believed that if you worked hard, treated people right, and with a little luck from God, you could have a good Life. Although my Dad may never have said it out loud, I know that he had truly loved us, his children. When we would all get together on the holidays, you see the smiles and happiness in my Dad. He showed strength and love right up until his last days with us.

Dad, even though you are no longer with us physically, I know you are still watching over us.

May your soul rest in peace.

Signed: Ignatius Chinonso Egbujonuma, Son for the Family.

“ It is with great sadness for me to give you & your children Juliet my deepest sympathy for the loss of your husband. What are the odds that you and I both have loss our husbands within weeks of each other and in the same manner? God has a plan and until we meet him will never understand. He also, had a purpose when our families meet! I will cherish all the memories that both your family and mines shared together over these years. My fondness memory was when we all went to Sight and Sound in PA for Christmas. There are no words anyone can say at this time to comfort your hearts. Although, your hearts will miss him forever just know the Angels are rejoicing as they welcomed him to his true home with the "Lord". As Jeff always said "No matter what keep the FAITH!"
