

Lamar P. Garrett

April 14, 1981 - May 11, 2019

LAMAR PHILLIP GARRETT was born into this life on April 14, 1981 to Gloria A. and Nathaniel Garrett in Baltimore City, Md. His birth was joyfully welcomed by his parents; his older sister, Brandie; his grandparents, Anna and Nathan Garrett and Dorothy and William M. Green; and many other family members and friends.

Lamar's early life was happy one. He and his sister enjoyed the things that made childhood special, such as riding bikes and visiting various playgrounds around the area with their father as a Sunday ritual.

Lamar attended the public schools in the area and received his high school diploma from Pikesville Senior High School in Pikesville, MD.

Growing up, Lamar participated fully in sports-football, basketball, and baseball. His love of sports continued into his adulthood as he enjoyed watching sports on television while offering his "expert" analyses of the games.

In his youth, Lamar accepted all Sacraments at Holy Family Roman Catholic Church in Randallstown, MD, where he sang on the choir and served as an altar boy until the age of eighteen.

He was a faithful employee of Ruppert Sanitation, Inc. for many years. The company's owners described him as a "dedicated and punctual employee who always put forth his best effort and... a team player." Lamar considered having pride in his work, doing his work well, and being of service to be one of his missions in life.

Lamar had three children that he cared about so deeply. Even though he may not have seen them often, he thought about them constantly. Despite his struggles with mental health issues during his adulthood, Lamar was loving and caring young man who sought love and understanding amid his pain.

Loved ones who transitioned before him include his grandparents, Dorothy Green, William M. Green, and Nathan Garrett.

Love ones who remain to cherish the best moments of his life are: his children, Dayzane, Shamar, and Shardae' Garrett; his devoted parents, Nathaniel and Gloria A. Garrett; his loving sister, Brandie B. G. D'Orazio (Dan); his dedicated grandmother, Anna Garrett; his aunts, Elaine Green Henderson (Bernard) and Toni Green-Travers; his uncles, Stanley L. Garrett (Tammie), Winston M. Green (Vickie) and Darrin Green; his great-aunt, Ethel G. Reed; nieces and nephews, Stella, Anna, Luca, and Leo D'Orazio; the mother of his beloved children, Shanell Graham; his godmother, LaVerne Bazemore; a trusted friend; LaTonya Davis; and a host of cousins, other relatives, and friends.
