“ I wish to express my condolences to the family. I know that your loss is painful and so may you find comfort from "the God of all comfort" (2 Cor. 1: 3, 4) who can help you to cope with this grief. It can be so hard to face each day without your loved one, but the love and support of family and friends and, of course, our loving Creator, can help to ease the pain and sorrow. Again, please accept my sincere condolences.

“ I'm so sorry for your loss and would like to offer my condolences to your family. Death is such a terrible thing for a family to go through, I actually lost my mom about 4yrs ago. I'm truly grateful that I have the truth about death and look forward to the future when there will be a resurrection of both the righteous and the unrighteous.”— ACTS 24:15. I'm sure you would love to see your dead loved one again in the coming Paradise here on earth! Again so sorry for your loss!!

“ Abraham and I were good friends in school, competing for grades, arm wrestling, trading punches, ... being boys. Alphabetically, he was behind me in the line that walked to lunch every day in the younger years, and so we always raced down the hall regardless of our teacher's directions, me trying to keep him from stepping on the back of my shoes and pulling them off, and him trying to do just that! He had the best mind for math I have ever seen. He could multiply numbers in his head faster than I could write them down, regardless of the decimal point location. Looks like you got the top spot this time Abraham; save me a seat my friend. I aim on graduating from this place and getting there too someday.

“ It has been a pleasure to know and enjoy Abraham. He was truly a god sent man for my sister. I was and will always be complimentary of the way in which he demonstrated his love and appreciation of her. I would be glad to have had more friends like him. I am sure that he is taking that charming smile and enjoyable personality with him to heaven. Enjoy my friend, you are truly worthy of all Gods gifts that await you. Me and my family will miss you.
