

Al D. Rogers

February 3, 1952 - August 20, 2017

Al Demetrius Rogers was born February 3, 1952 to Willie and Mary Rogers in Wake Forest, North Carolina. He was the oldest of six children. He enjoyed the Commander in Chief privliages of being the oldest. Al was a born leader. His younger siblings and cousins looked up to him. Al had stellar manners which made him endeared with the family matriarchs.

Al attended Baltimore Public Schools and graduated from Edmondson High School in 1970. His late Uncle Harrison got him a job at Bethlehem Steel. Al would come home and complain about the hard work. He put up with the hard work for a while because it allowed him to buy clothes. He loved dressing and Al could rag his "proverbial tail off." Om 1975 he and Valerie Gaither had his first child, Nicole Cherese Rogers, a healthy bouncing baby girl. He got a new job working for Baltimore Health System as a Health Counselor. During this time he attended Baltimore City Community College. Al later acquired the job he retired from with the State of Maryland Waxter Center working with troubled youth. Al was good with numbers and kept great credit. In 1989 Al and Cynthia Hodge welcomed into the world their son Al Rogers Jr.

Al retied from the State of Maryland in 2007. He enjoyed his retirement partying and clubbing with is friends. In 2015 due to declining health he went to new Horizons Assisted Living. They became his second family. He would attend Kingdom Life Church with his sister. He reconnected with Jesus as Lord of his life. During his life he was called many names: dad, brother, fly, hip, slick, cool, money, OG, (and some we won't mention). In the end,, the name that mattered to him most was saved, redeemed, child of God. Towards the twilight Al enjoyed the prayers family and friends would pray for him.

On August 20, 2017 having fought the good fight of faith for close to a month in hospice. Al transitioned, GOD whispered in his ear and called him home. He left to join his mom, dad and two brothers he'd missed dearly Maurice and Manteo. Al leaves to mourn him: his two children Nicole Cherese Rogers and Al Rogers Jr. A son in law Wayne Hough. Two grandchildren Jazmin Nyree Gaither and Cherish Destiny Gaither. Three sibling Cheneda Kane, Beverly Rogers and Tony Rogers. A brother in law Winston Kane. His children's mom Valerie Gaither and Cynthia Hogde. A Special friend Maxine as well as a host of other relatives and friends.
