“ My bestfriend. My baby. My everything. Gone way to soon. I love and miss you more than you'll ever know. You took a large piece of me with you when god called you home. But I know you remain with me, everywhere I go. I'll ALWAYS love you baby. Continue to rest in peace until we meet again! XOXOXO, love always
You're Sweet cheeks ❤️

“ I met Alex on Nov 9th while we were out celebrating our birthdays and to see him gone a week later is very painful. He made an impact on me and my friend and we are very sad behind this loss. For those of you that knew him longer, I can imagine how empty you all must feel. This was a vibrant young man and I will forever remember him. From what I could tell in that small amount of time he was a very cool and down to earth guy. I hope he is resting in peace and to ALL of his family and friends I'm So Sorry for your loss.

Much Love

“ To the family of Alex Tremaine Perkins:
Please accept my sincere condolences for your loss. Death is the enemy of all mankind, yet when it touches us personally, few seek the comfort they search for. The doctrines that are taught concerning death find their origins from men and not the Bible. As a result, they fail to leave those who are grieving with comfort or a hope. They do however, leave many with unanswered questions. The response that "God works in mysterious ways" or that "God needed another angel", does not satisfy the spiritual needs of those who are grieving. However, many have found comfort in the pages of God's word the Bible (2 Corinthians 1:3, 4). In God's word we find the promise that we can be reunited with our loved ones (John 5:28,29; Acts 24:15). The Bible tells us where this happy reunion will take place (Psalm 37: 11, 29; Matthew 5:5). We are told why we die (Genesis 3:17-19; Romans 5:12), and that the God of the Bible will end death forever (Isaiah 25:8; Revelation 21:3,4). Learning the truth about Jehovah, the God of the Bible (Psalm 83:18), God's Kingdom (Daniel 2:44), and the state of those who have died (Ecclesiastes 9:5), is the start to finding true comfort concerning loved ones who are sleeping in death (John 11:11-14; John 8:32).
