

Allie Ann Coclough

September 6, 1953 - October 10, 2002

Allie Ann Coclough, daughter of Dora Mae Floyd and the late Jarvis Floyd Sr. was born on September 6, 1953 at City Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland. She departed this life on October 10, 2002 after a very short illness. She graduated from Western High School; afterwards she completed courses at the Community College of Baltimore and Coupon State College. She became employed by the Woods Company at UMBC as a utility worker in 1996 and continued to be employed until her illness. She married Warren A. Coclough in 1993. She lived her life to the fullest and was always a cheerful, fun-loving person. She was always willing to help others anyway she could. Everyone who knew her will sincerely miss Allie. She leaves to mourn: her estranged husband, Warren Coclough; a loving mother, Dora Mae Floyd; two daughters, Tiffany A. McClary, Rachelle Y. Floyd; three sons, Mitchell L. McClary Jr., Anthony B. Ridgley and one very special son, Erskine W. Coclough; three grandchildren, Tiquan, Kayla and Ka'Shawn McClary; two godchildren, Kisha and Kedrick Crawford; six brothers, Jarvis Jr., Danny, Richard, Curtis, Melvin and Howard (brother Thurman Floyd preceded her in death); one sister, Doretha Foster; and a host of nieces, nephews, friends and relatives.

“ Healing happens slowly over weeks and months and years and even then, there will be days when memories call fresh tears. A song, a scent, or photograph keeps your heart in touch; with all that you so treasured in the one you miss so much.##imported-begin##The March Family and Staff##imported-end##
