

Alonzo Alston III

August 17, 1972 - February 5, 2015

Alonzo Alston III, son of Essie Wilson and Alonzo Alston Jr., was born on August 17, 1972 in Baltimore, Maryland.

Alonzo affectionately known as “Boo” or “Booda Blast”, attended Baltimore City Public Schools and also obtained his GED from Harbor Institute High School. Boo departed this life on February 5, 2015 after a short illness.

Boo was dedicated to his family and friends. He liked to tell jokes, and he could keep you laughing. He loved sports and music, all kinds of music. Boo also loved being with his younger brother, Winky. After receiving his education, Boo remained working at McDonald's restaurant and became a manager, doing what he loved doing the most. Boo also had a passion to become an attorney. He also loved to cook, which he was doing at Ruby Tuesday's up until the day he was called home.

Boo made numerous friends wherever he went and was known as “The Life of the Party.” Boo was very intelligent and had a heart of gold. If he was around, it was never a dull moment because his personality was very uplifting. Boo also loved to say, he was a “fly guy” and always loved for the waves in his hair to be jumping off.

one daughter, Simone Alston, who he loved to death; two brothers, Alvin “Winky” Alston and Antonio Alston-Bey; two sisters, Tiffany and Alonna Alston; one sister-in-law, Alin Alston-Bey; two nephews, Jaden Alston and Jahman Alston-Bey; three nieces, Ebony Alston, Ala Alston-Bey and Isis Alston-Bey; a devoted friend “Weenie”; uncles, aunts and a host of other relatives and friends.

Boo will be missed!!!
