

Anna L. Cromwell

November 23, 1950 - July 9, 2003

Anna L. Cromwell, daughter of the late John and Lillian Kid, was born November 23, 1950. Anna departed this life after a lengthy illness and made a peaceful transition on July 9, 2003 at 6:30 a.m. Anna was educated in the public schools of Baltimore City. Later in life, she met and married George Cromwell, and out of this union, a child was born, Venus A. Cromwell. The family moved to Connecticut where she worked as a Seamstress. In 1971, she moved back home to Baltimore where she continued her work as a Seamstress. Anna joined Israelite Pentecostal Holiness Church in 1992. She was known for her smile and peasant outlook on life. She was also known for the love she had for her family and grandchildren. Anna enjoyed listening to all styles of music. She leaves to mourn, a daughter, Venus Cromwell; four grandchildren, John Poter, Tavonia and Michael Henderson, and Keanna Parker; six sisters, Irene Bosley, Margaret Kidwell, Beatrice Newman, Lillian Johnson, Brenda West and Emma Jean Crocket; a brother, John Kidwell, Jr.; a loving and devoted friend, Charles Hunt; twenty-three nieces and nephews, thirty-nine great nieces and nephews; three brothers-in-law, and a host of other relatives and dear friends.
