

Anne S. Davis

August 23, 1935 - April 8, 2020

On April 8, 2020 Anne Shervington Davis, retired CEO of Florence Crittenton Services of Baltimore, Inc, transitioned at Sinai Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland at the age of 84.

Anne was born in Baltimore, Maryland on August 23, 1935 to E. W. Shervington, M.D. and Charlotte Watson Shervington. With her two younger siblings, a brother, Walter and a sister, Carol, she grew up in Baltimore. She graduated from Douglas High School and earned her B.A. from Morgan State College in 1957. She later earned her M.Ed. in Criminology and Counseling from Coppin State University. She also obtained an Administrative Theory Certificate from Johns Hopkins University.

In 1957, Anne married her college sweetheart, Gerald Davis, of Jersey City, NJ. Their marriage of 20 years (divorced) provided the foundation by which they raised their three daughters: Penny, Alison and Melanie. The family resided in the Ashburton section of Baltimore on Edgewood Road and spent most of their free time on Gerry's boat or in Cape May, NJ, at the Shervington family summer home. Anne was a devout member of Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church and then New All Saints Church, where she raised her girls to be good Catholics. She was also a dedicated member of Jack and Jill of America, Inc., as a child and as a mother, providing the legacy of participation in community service to her children. Anne Davis loved her clubs! Over the years she served in leadership roles in all of them. Among her organization and club memberships were: The Kappa Silouettes, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc., The F.B.I. Wives, Morgan State University Alumni Association/Class of '57, The Bon Bons, The Baltimore Girl Friends, Inc., Ashburton, Dubois Circle and Greater Baltimore Leadership. For more than thirty years Anne took delight in co-chairing the annual Morgan State University Homecoming Gala, helping to raise substantial amounts of money for her beloved Alma Mater.

A tireless achiever, Anne enjoyed a long and successful career in her field, paving the way and mentoring many others. The pinnacle of her career was serving as Executive Director, and then, CEO of Florence Crittenton Services of Baltimore, Inc., for a total of 35 years (1977 - 2011). She was passionate and proud of the mission at FCS, helping so many teenage girls to find their way. She felt honored to execute this work alongside her team of professionals and board members who shared her vision and passion. Upon retiring, Anne soon found her way back into the work force. Her final run was at her beloved Alma Mater, Morgan State University. There, she was Lecturer/Adjunct Professor in the School of Social Work/Graduate program. She taught and monitored graduate students out at their field sites: hospitals, hospice centers, nursing homes, schools, etc. She absolutely savored every minute that she spent developing young professionals to excel in the field that she loved. Known as a diva, Anne loved fashion and established a clothing and jewelry business, EtCetera Boutique. For over 30 years on weekends she could be found at her shop on Liberty Heights or vending at fashion shows, conventions, open houses and, in the summer, at park fairs in her beloved second hometown of West Cape May, New Jersey.

Ms. Davis earned numerous awards for public service, entrepreneurship and professional development, one of which was the YWCA Outstanding Leadership Award in 2005. She also served on several boards such as: Chair, Governors Council on Adolescent Pregnancy and Prevention, Vice Chair, Baltimore City Commission for Women (1984 - 1989), Board Member, Morgan State University Foundation (1984 - 2014) Board Member, YMCA, member Johns Hopkins University Community Conversations (1978 - 2014), Board Member/Trustee Baltimore City Historical Society (2003 - 2011) Senior Peer Reviewer, Council on Accreditation (1980 - 2010), Iota Phi Lambda Sorority, Business Leadership Award (2008).

Anne is survived by daughters: Lynnette (Penny) Davis Morris of W. Cape May, NJ and Alison Davis Hillen of Baltimore, MD; grandchildren: Hiro N. Morris and Tristyn M. Hood; sister, Carol Shervington Wright; nephews: Julian Wright (Adria), and Kaleb Shervington; niece, Iman Shervington, grand nephew, Julian Wright, sisters-in-law: Frances Jiggets and Denese M. Shervington, M.D., several loving paternal and maternal cousins, and last; but absolutely not least, her circle of extended family and beloved friends. She is preceded in death by her youngest daughter, Melanie Davis Hood, her parents E. W. Shervington, M.D. and Charlotte Watson Shervington, her younger brother, Walter W. Shervington, M.D., her aunts: Olive Noel and Agnes Watson Patterson and uncle, Elmer Patterson.

The Family extends their gratitude to all for the overwhelming expressions of love and support during this difficult time. Due to the world and community circumstances a memorial service will be planned for a future date.

“ Anne's passing was the first of several that have now occurred amongst family and friends over the course of the past few weeks of this devastating pandemic. And like so much else associated with this difficult time, grieving itself has presented unprecedented challenges. I take recourse in this regard to the reflections of a colleague anthropologist, who recently wrote:

>> It is the limitations of linguistic communication that I am thinking about most right now, especially in relation to grief. Where I am, and where many people are, we cannot touch our loved ones right now, other than those that live in the same house. We can't sit next to them as they struggle against illness, or as they cry for the person that they just lost. We can't be there, silent, knowing that there is nothing that can be said, but that our presence matters. It's in these big forms of grief that we find ourselves saying "there are no words", "I don't know what to say", "I can't express..." over and over and over. But unlike at other times, this is actually all we have. We reach out with "ghost hugs", puppy gifs, memes, and words. We light a candle in our window, we take a picture of it, we post it online. We talk to crying friends and family through a screen, we cry with them, we say that there is nothing to say. We are trying to "be present", but it is a flat presence. I don't know about you, but space to just be together in silence is not possible through screens, where the awkwardness of those pauses seems amplified and echoes.<< -- [Sarah Shulist, "When all there are is words for experiences that are too big for words." AnthroDendum, 22 April 2020]

Anne will be missed by all of us who knew and loved her. We take solace in the memories which she has gifted us.

“ Ms. Ann Davis was one of the kindest and most gentle women I have ever met. When my family would travel to W. Cape May, New Jersey for the summer, she would greet us like family. Her daughters were a reflection of her as they were giving and always pleasant. I would take note how she never showed anger in public and treated both adults and children with respect. I have attempted to emulate that same attitude but have failed at times with what I learned from her. For me there will never be anyone like her in my lifetime. Thank you Ms. Davis for showing me the meaning of kindness. ”

Baltimore feels off balance without Mrs Davis. She was a part of the tapestry, a creator of pristine legacy, and an example to every young woman she came to influence. I've known her since I was a child in Jack-n-Jill growing up in the same group with her beautiful daughter Alison. She was a golden goddess. When I saw her as recently as last month, as we sat and talked, I was always looking up. She made you feel like the only person in the room and I am blessed to have experienced that. Having just lost my mother, my heart bleeds for her beautiful daughters and family. Her life is lived in Paradise now but her love springs eternal and will never die.

“ Anne and I go back to the 8th grade at Booker T. Washington Junior High School. We graduated from Douglass High in 1953, She went to Morgan and I went to Coppin. She became a social worker and I became a teacher. I was the matron of honor in her wedding and she was the maid of honor in my first wedding. We kept in touch through the years and looked forward to our once a year luncheons to reminisce and catch up on the latest news. We had great fun in school and club activities. Anne will be surely missed by me. I pray that she's resting in peace.
