“ I would like to express my sincere condolences for the loss of your dear loved one. The Bible teaches about a future time when all those in the memorial tombs will come out by means of a resurrection (John5:28-29) to life on a paradise earth (Psalm37:11,29). May you find solace in the God of all comfort (2Cor1:3-4) and he will sustain you during this difficult time (Psalm55:22).##imported-begin##C. Murphy##imported-end##

“ May I extend my heartfelt condolences to your family at this most difficult time. Losing a loved one in death is something so very hard to come to terms with, because we miss them so much and can't believe they're really gone, and we can't see their dear faces any longer. Yes, that is a bitter pill to swallow. God knows the pains we go through when a loved one dies, and he never desired this sadness for us. One day he's going to bring about a peaceful new world, for the benefit of those who love him and truly want to serve him in faithfulness. Even the dead will share in the blessings of that new world when they are resurrected back to life. John 5:28,29 says, "Do not marvel at this, because the hour is coming in which all those in the memorial tombs will hear his (Jesus's) voice and come out; those who did good things will have a resurrection of life. So things are definitely going to change on this earth, a beautiful change of something better. In that new world we will be able to welcome back our loved ones from the dead. What a glorious day of salvation that will be. May you be comforted by these thoughts from the Bible, and may your precious memories of happier days with Annie be a sustaining force in your lives to help you to go on.##imported-begin##R Johnson##imported-end##

“ May I extend my fellow feeling to you all. Losing a dear love one after 83 years breaks the circle of life for all. Our heavenly father knows how you all are fairly and cares for you all, 1 Peter 5:7. I have lost dear love ones too and know the feeling and long for better times, Pro.30:4. I hope these few thoughts will be helpful on the journey of life ahead. May all many memories shared with Annie make living worth while as we await the Paradise earth.##imported-begin##Lillian Crosby##imported-end##
