

Antwane Q. Thomas

February 17, 1984 - August 8, 2002

Antwane Q. Thomas, beloved son of Maddie Thomas and the late Harold B. Wade was born February 17, 1984 at Johns Hopkins Hospital of Baltimore City and entered into eternal rest on Thursday, August 8, 2002. Antwane was baptized at an early age at the Israel Baptist Church of Baltimore City. Antwane was the youngest child born to Maddie Thomas; Maddie loved all of her children, but Antwane and Maddie had a special bond. They always greeted each other with “ I Love You” and when they departed from one another, they said, “ I Love You,” also. Antwane was well known and had many nicknames he went by: Twane, Lil Wezzy and Black Ice, to name a few. He loved playing sports, baseball and basketball, but his first love was playing his Playstation 2. Antwane was a friendly, well mannered and a very lovable person. Antwane was educated at Mervo High School and Fort Meade High School. He was a very intelligent person. He was an honor student, and he scored top of his class on his SATs. He was recommended to have his Biography published in Who’s Who’s Among American High School Students. Only the highest achieving students in high school are even considered for this honor. He will surely be missed by all that knew him. He leaves to cherish his memory: his mother, Maddie Thomas; brothers, Andre and Don Thomas; sister, Lana Thomas; half brother, Harold Wake Jr. and half sister, Robin Wake; grandmothers, Trudy Matthews and Muriel Armstead; two nieces, Shawntavia and Christina; two sisters-in-law, Mary F. Thomas and Eunice Anderson; a host of aunts, uncles, cousins and other relatives, friends; a very devoted godmother, Cynthia Stanley; and a very special friend, LaWanda Brock.
