“ I would like to offer my condolences for the loss of your loved one. We look forward to a time when Jehovah God will wipe out every tear from our eyes and death will be no more, neither will mourning nor outcry nor pain be anymore (Rev. 21:4). The Bible ensures us that there is going to be a resurrection of those that have fallen asleep in death (John 5:28-29, Acts 24:15). Continue to draw close to the God of all comfort (2Cor1:3-4) and he will sustain you during this difficult time (Psalm 55:22). Warm regards.##imported-begin##C. Murphy##imported-end##

“ I send my sincere and warm condolences. I'm so sorry that you lost your dear Bertie. When we go through the pain of losing a loved one, it is truly so hard to deal with. Sometimes a song, a certain tv show, or the way someone walks may bring memories of our loved one back to our minds, and it makes us miss them even more. Jehovah God didnot desire this pain for us, and he has promised with a sworn oath that he will soon end all sorrow, including sickness and death. Rev 21:4 says of Jehovah; "And he will wipe out every tear from their eyes and death will be no more; neither will mourning nor outcry nor pain be anymore. "The former things have passed away. "And the one seated on the throne said, "Look! I am making all things new." One day this sad world with it's violence, it's wars, it's poverty, it's sicknesses, and even death will be gone forever. Even the memory of these tragedies will be forgotten, because Jehovah promises at Isiah 65:17, "For here I am creating new heaven and a new earth, and the former things will not be brought to mind, neither will they come up into the heart." Those who have already fallen asleep in death will wake up, because at Daniel 12:2 it tells us: "There will be many of those asleep in the ground of dust who will wake up." May you find much comfort in these wonderful promises.##imported-begin##R
