

Booker Horace Ford

January 28, 1927 - December 12, 2002

Booker T. Ford, Jr., was born January 28, 1927, in Baltimore, Maryland. He departed this earth on December 12, 2002. Booker was the son of the late Booker T. Ford, Sr., and Lillian Johnson Ford. He was the beloved brother of the late Louise Nicholas. Booker attended Baltimore Public Schools. He joined the US Army and served his country with tours of duty in the Philippine Islands, Hawaii, and stateside. Booker was employed at Glen L. Martin Company and retired from United Airlines after twenty-four years of service. "Ford," as friends affectionately called him enjoyed life, and made no apologies for it. His passions were fishing, hunting, music, traveling, and being in the company of friends. He was "Uncle Junior" to his nieces, nephews, and other kin. He loved to reminisce about the "good times" when family and friends flocked to his Eastern Shore home to "eat crabs." He enjoyed taking pictures and videotaping these special times with his family and friends. His home is filled with photographs of his loved ones and adventures. He will be sorely missed by all that knew and loved him. He leaves behind his son, Jeffrey Ford; daughters, Denise Jones and Beverly Johnson; step-daughters, Juanita Forbes; grandchildren, Dione, Darrell P., and Dante Jones, Lateesha Stevens, Sharica and Willie Price; stepchildren, Tracey Hodges and Derrick Jones; great-grandchildren, Dione Jr., Dante Jr., Taylor, Jamhai, Kyshana, Derrick Jr., and Dezham; his nieces and nephews and their spouses: Dr. May Nicholas Holmes, Geraldine Nicholas Harvey and William Harvey, Robert and Lila Nicholas, James and Delma Nicholas, other family members and friends.
