“ Brandon was my first friend growing up. We had lots of great adventures playing in the woods, running around the neighborhood, playing video games, and watching horror movies at a really young age. As we got older we got into music, art, photography, and creative things. I haven't seen Brandon in years after moving away from home but everytime we would run into each other in the city, it was always like no time was lost. I'll always remember his infectious laugh and smile. He always had a positive attitude and was a really hard worker. I'll miss him and I'll always cherish the fun we had in our youth. Rest in power bud.

Much Love,
Danny Lerch
