Cameron was employed for 20 years Lincoln Medical Center and the Marriott Hotel for 10 years until a severe hand injury left him disabled to work again.

At an early, Cameron professed his faith in Jesus Christ. In his later year's he re-dedicated his life to Christ and knew, the angels were preparing him for his transition to be with his Heavenly Father.

In 1989, Cameron married the love of his life Anita Jeffries (Brooks). They were very close and although theirs lives went in different directions, they had an everlasting bond. Cameron and Anita ended up being best of friends. They talked often and she lovingly cared for bringing him food and anything he may have needed until his transition.

Cameron loved to spend time with family and always stayed close to home. He enjoyed watching westerns and games shows. His greatest enjoyment was spending time nurturing his great niece Shi-Niyua who called him daddy because because he was the only dad she knew. He loved her so much with her twin sister Shi-Mirror and Shi- Kyme.

Cameron was the kindest, compassionate lion of an angel that ever lived. He would do anything you asked him without hesitation. He spent time with his sons and was delighted to reunite with his oldest son Cameron in his final days. He loved his mother dearly whom he considered her strongest, bravest, loving, spiritual woman in his life. She enjoyed taking care of Cameron.
