

Charles H. Brown

April 11, 1946 - April 15, 2019

Charles H. Brown was born on April 11, 1946, in Farmville, Virginia to the late Mary Davis and James Thornton. He peacefully entered into eternal rest on April 15, 2019, after a brief illness.

Charles was intelligent and very smart. He graduated from Carver High School in 1966 and was drafted in the United States Army services right after High school. Charles continued his education at Morgan State University where he received a Master's degree in Philosophy in the mid-1970s and an Honorary Doctorate at Morgan State University in 2016.

He was a supporter of Open-Heart Sanctuary Ministries.

He was an avid chess player often entering in out of state tournaments and he also was a frequent caller on the local Talk Radio Station 1010 AM. Charles loved to read what was going on in the news and politics.

Upon his death, Charles worked for Baltimore City Public Schools as a Substitute Teacher for over 30 years. Early in life, he worked as a Driving Instructor, Cab Driver and tax preparer at Jackson Hewitt Tax Service.

Charles would always celebrate his birthday with his cousins, Ann, Valerie and Carolyn hosted by his mother.

Charles was preceded in death by his step-father, Leroy Davis.

Charles leaves to cherish his memory: his son, Kennard Brown; one aunt, Ruby Brown; one uncle, Wallace Brown; one sister-in-law, Mary Brown; a devoted cousin, Ann Bradford; numerous cousins and a host of other relatives and friends.
