

Charles Ronald Bugg Sr.

November 6, 1950 - January 9, 2011

CHARLES RONALD BUGG, SR. affectionately called (POP-PA Charles) by all who loved him, departed this life on January 9, 2011. Charles was born on November 6, 1950 in Baltimore, Maryland to the late Charlie Bugg and Mary Fautleroy-Bugg. He had one brother, Tyrone Bugg, who preceded him in death.

Charles received his education in the Baltimore City School System. He enlisted in the Army, where he obtained the rank of Staff Sergeant and served his country with pride for a total of twenty-six-years. In his civilian life, he continued to work as a dedicated public servant for the City of Baltimore under the Department of Public Works, where he held numerous positions from which he retired on July 30, 1996.

“Pop-Pa Charles” was a loving and generous person who loved to laugh and make others laugh. He loved life and helping others. His infectious laugh and jovial personality left a lasting impression on everyone he met.

Charles has left to cherish his memory: a loving and devoted friend, Linda Warren; two children, Charles Ronald Bugg, II and Crystal Harris; two granddaughters, Amari Bugg and Khori Bugg; three boys he brought up like his own, Kevin Rhodes, Sean Rhodes and Myron Fulton; aunt, Margaret Nutt; two goddaughters, Nikkia Williams and Rickey Eades; godson, Ryan Eades; and a host of cousin, extended family members and friends.
