

Charles H. Dews

September 8, 1948 - September 9, 2017

Charles Howard Dews, of Baltimore, Maryland, passed away peacefully on Saturday, September 9, 2017 in Seasons Hospice Care at MedStar Franklin Square Medical Center. He was born on September 8, 1948 at City Hospital in Baltimore County to parents, Francis Galmore and Howard Dews.

Charles was an avid reader, a storyteller and a person fond of debate. He was extremely knowledgeable and always prepared to engage in conversation of all topics ranging from Religion to Politics. He was jovial with a pleasant spirit and he enjoyed making others laugh.

Charles was a skilled laborer (Welder) who held jobs at places such as Sparrows Point Shipyard and Ceafoss Construction Company.

Charles was a very loving man who doted on his granddaughter, Imani. He, along with his significant other of fifty years, Pearl, raised their only son, Cornell. Together they are left to mourn his death with his siblings, Connie, Louis, Anita, Rudolph and Carolyn. Charles also had four other siblings who preceded him in transitioning to the afterlife. Those siblings were Donald, Lawrence, Marvin and Colleen. There are others who loved Charles like a brother, who will also mourn him as such and they are his sister-in-law, Elizabeth; his brothers-in-law, William and Amos. Charles had a daughter-in-law, Kim and a step-grandchild, Kiara. He also had an unprecedented number of nieces and nephews, loyal friends from his childhood growing up in Turners Station and friends from his adulthood living in East Baltimore that will be left to mourn his death as well.

If you knew him, I'm certain that you either laughed or debated with him. Or you probably did both. Nevertheless, you loved him and you knew that he loved you. To know him is to love him.
