“ Charles was our neighbor, and when we moved into the neighborhood in 2011, I saw him in a wheelchair and asked him about his illness and he was very open in discussing his journey. He was so proud of his family and one afternoon when I visited him, he showed me all the photos in his family. The photos on the walls of his living room were lovely and he was so proud of his grown sons. Charles was always smiling and very kind. He never missed a wave to me or my husband Michael when we passed by his house and he was out on his porch of getting into or out of his car. We will miss him dearly!
Karen is a gem and a wonderful neighbor as well. Our deepest sympathy for her and all of Charles's family and friends.
