

Clarence C. McClary

February 4, 1922 - January 10, 2003

Clarence C. McClary Sr., son of the late Cleveland and Lucille McClary, was born on February 4, 1922 in Newport News, Virginia. He departed this life on January 10, 2003, after lengthy illness. Although Clarence did not belong to any particular church, he visited many churches, loved his gospel music, and loved his Jesus. Clarence was educated by the Baltimore City School System. During World War II, Clarence faithfully served his country in the United State Army. He was later employed as a mechanic at the Plotkin Tire Company. For years, Clarence operated as a Master Carpenter, an engineer by God-given talent, and a professional upholsterer for family and friends. He was well known by members in the Westport Pharmacy as an area delivery person. He was well known by members in the Westport and Cherry Hill communities. Until his illness, family and friends always dropped by on weekends to enjoy Pop's hospitality and good cooking! Pop used to say, "I can fix anything that man made. In 1962, he met his beloved Lolevia Jackson who he affectionately called "Mama". To this union was born a daughter, Patty. Because of genuine appreciation of family, Pop's family circle was extended to include other children, Peggy, Nadine, Lisa, and his beloved sons, Clarence C. McClary Jr. and Roscoe, who preceded him in death. Clarence leaves to mourn: his beloved Lolevia Jackson; one daughter, Patty Adams; one sister, Barbara Jackson-Dargan; one brother-in-law, Joseph Dargan; three daughters and son-in-laws, Peggy Jobe (Oscar), Nadine Jackson, and Lisa Pratters (Robert); granddaughters, Lena McClary, Lavesha Bennett, Sonia Hudson, Venus

Jackson, Tawanda Griffin and Deyonna Pullium; one grandson, Oliver Taylor (Nicole): great-grandchildren, Aviana Bennett, Kristen Whitehurst, Tessa Simmons, London Taylor; and a host of nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.
