

Cleophas Bazemore

June 15, 1943 - December 12, 2024

CLEOPHAS MUDDRICK BAZEMORE, affectionately called “Clekie”, entered our beautiful world, June 15, 1943. He was the oldest of eight children born to the late Cephas Jefferson Bazemore, Sr. and the late Rosetta Parker-Bazemore.

Clekie had several health problems and underwent many medical surgeries and procedures during much of his adult life. However, he always “bounced back”. Despite Clekie’s strong constitution to conquer and survive, he lost his last battle, December 12, 2024. God said enough pain and suffering my faithful servant, calling Clekie Home to rest.

Clekie lived a happy, content, and full life with his family. He was a son, brother, and uncle with a “giving heart” ...always showing his love. Without skipping a beat, Clekie received much joy and pleasure taking on the role of the “family Santa Clause” shopping for gifts (for each family member), wrapping them, and placing them under the Christmas Tree (secretly) every holiday season.

Clekie was an avid collector. Some of his prized collectibles included comic books, records, and model trains. He began his record collection with the “top” 45’s and eventually added albums and CD’s. R&B, his favorite music genre included Motown and the Philadelphia Sound. Clekie’s interest along with his brother Donald, in the history of American Railroading resulted in an extensive collection of Model Trains.

Cleophas was preceded in death by not only his parents but also his sister, Ernestine Bazemore-Donawa (July 12, 2018) and his brother, James Frank Bazemore (November 18, 2023).

Left to cherish his memory, Cleophas is survived by one sister, Rosilind Davis (Brawley, Jr.); four brothers, Cephas Jefferson Bazemore, Jr. (LaVerne), George Henry Bazemore, Donald Parker Bazemore, and Harold Levi Bazemore; six nephews, Benjamin Davis, Kenneth Davis, Charles Davis, Christopher Davis, Iniko Bazemore, and Joshua Bazemore; two aunts, Tenny Johnson and Betty Parker-Watson; one uncle, Washington Parker; six great-nephews; five great-nieces, and a host of cousins and other relatives.
