

Cleoria Robinson

February 14, 1947 - January 4, 2021

CLEORIA ROBINSON was born on February 14, 1947 in Nashville, North Carolina to the late Mollie Tabron and John Crudup.

(Nemmie), as she was called by many loved ones, was educated at Dunbar High School. She then went on to PTT Nursing School, where she received her LPN in Nursing. She then went on to work at Johns Hopkins Hospital's ICU Unit for thirty-five years. On April 14, 1997, she received a Stella Award for most decorated nurse by Dr. Ben Carson, who she worked very closely with.

On January 4, 2021, she departed her life and went home with the Lord.

She leaves to cherish her memory: her loving husband, Prentis J. Vinson; one daughter, Sharmanika Robinson; nephews, Maurice Spencer, Khalil, Kamari and Braylin; nieces, Makayla, Taylor, and Takiyah; four brothers preceded her in death, William Floyd Crudup, Rudolph Crudup, J. C. Crudup and James Crudup; four sisters, Lulibelle Crudup, Evelyn Crudup and Ilease Funderburk and Dorothy Murdock; and a host of many more loved ones.

“ Very sorry to hear of Cleo's passing. I wish we were closer as a family. As it is there are many family members who are unknown to me yet they live just across town. With the availability of cell phones and social media, we should make it happen. Please feel free to search and contribute to the Gibson-Crudup-Tabron family tree posted on ancestry.com.
