

Cora Booker

July 4, 1925 - April 25, 2003

Cora Booker, the daughter of the late Garfield Henry and Lettie Miller, was born on July 4, 1925, in Cambridge, Maryland. She departed this life on April 25, 2003 after a brief illness at the University of Maryland Specialty Hospital. Cora received her early education in the Baltimore Public Schools. Cora was a kind, loving, intelligent and wise woman; some have said even clairvoyant at times. She always did all she could to make others feel safe and loved. Cora met and married her sweetheart of many years, Zebedee, and they shared a lifetime of happiness together. After his death, Cora gave her life to Christ and found peace and salvation through baptism into the Faith United Baptist Church, where she again could share her love in fellowship with her church family. Cora leaves to mourn: her daughter, Aretha Williams; son, James Copeland; three grandchildren, two great-grandchildren; one son-in-law, Hyman; three sisters, Beverly Miller, Arlene G. Tibbs, Deborah Pigatt; two brothers-in-law; two sisters-in-law, Hilda Johnson and JoAnn Henry; two nieces, and a host of other relatives and friends.

“ After being carried through the valley and being lifted to the top of the mountain, you will find yourself in fields of clover able to drink from everlasting fountain. Never having to suffer or cry another tear you find that you have finally reached the place far past the misery of this earth just beyond the veil where you can see our Father's face.##imported-begin##Faith United Baptist Church##imported-end##

“ Sorry to hear about the family's loss. I always find comfort in the Bible at John 5:28,29 - "all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out, to a resurrection of life". I hope these words comfort you.##imported-begin##Joseph Hill##imported-end##
