

Cynthia Morgan Coleman

March 26, 1941 - September 18, 2001

Cynthia Morgan Coleman, daughter of Virginia Morgan Thompson and the late William Stewart. She was born on March 26, 1947 in Baltimore, Maryland and she departed this life on September 18, 2001, after a lengthy illness. Cynthia, affectionately known as “Bay,” received her education in Baltimore City Public Schools. She was joined in holy matrimony with Charles E. Coleman on March 20, 1994. For twenty years, Cynthia was employed with the Housing Authority of Baltimore City until she became ill. Cynthia was community activist, this can be seen in her selection and participation with the following organizations: Women’s Board of the Welfare Rights Organization, The Tenant’s Advisory Council in Lafayette Courts, and The Mayors Task Force. Cynthia began her spiritual journey as a child at Nazarene Baptist Church. Upon making a decision to become a full time Christian Steward, Cynthia returned to her roots. She rededicated her adult life at Nazarene Baptist Church and committed her soul to Christ under the guidance and leadership of her beloved Pastor Rev. James J. Thompson. She leaves to mourn her husband, Charles E. Coleman; mother, Virginia Thompson; one brother, Alvin Thompson; three sons, Darryl Robertson, Dwayne Robinson and Anthony Morgan; two daughters, Nia Butler and Dina Phillips; Twenty-three grandchildren; six greatchildren; three aunts; two uncles; and a host of relatives and friends.
