

Damion Anthony Nelson

September 12, 1976 - June 21, 2003

Damion A. Nelson, son of Daniel H. Nelson and Norma P. Barnett, was born on September 12, 1976 in Kingston, Jamaica. He died on June 21, 2003. He attended Robinson High School in Brooklyn, New York and Ferris High School in Jersey City, New Jersey. He worked for several companies in New York City while he attended school. He later moved to Baltimore, Maryland to further his education while working in the construction business with his Grandfather, James Barnett. While he was there he talked about settling down and starting his own family. He will be greatly missed by all. Damion made many friends wherever he went and has touched the minds and hearts of everyone who knew him. He was always a true friend to those who were close to him. Damion leaves behind: his mother, Norma P. Barnett; his father, Daniel H. Nelson; two brothers, Christopher M.P. Forgenie and George A.W. Nelson; one sister, Charmaine H. Frank; Grandmother Joyce D. Anderson; Grandfather James Barnett and many other family members and friends.

“ Bo Bo, I didn't know you baby but you left with Jeff. I am so sorry. You didn't even know what was going on. But Jesus has a plan & we must except his callings. Keep your family strong. Let them know you are O.K. Tell my children, (Jeff & John) I love them & I'll see you all when I get there.###imported-begin##Ms. Vicki###imported-end##
