“ I met Darlene Blackwell while riding the school bus to elementary school. Every school day she would board the bus neatly dressed, matching head to toe. She carried a bookbag that contained a notebook with each days work, dated, with such impeccable handwriting. I wasted so much lined paper trying to write as neatly as she did. When I told her this, she just laughed. I met "Doll" when our parents decided we could walk to school. I walked to her house to be greeted at the door by her parents, Mr. & Mrs. Blackwell. Her mom looked just like Gladys Knight. As I sat there waiting for Darlene, her parents would call for "Doll" to hurry, because they did not tolerate being late for school. I wondered who Doll was because I only met Harold and Darlene. But when she came down the stairs with those big beautiful doe eyes, and dressed neatly from head to toe, I understood exactly why they would call her "Doll". The look in her parents eyes explained it all. She was their "Doll". It wasn't any doubt in my mind that Darlene would not be successful in life. Rising to the heights of a beautiful lady! I thank God for giving me the gift of friendship with Darlene at such an influential time in our lives. She was truly an inspiration to me and I don't think she even knew it. I know you will be missed by your family and friends. Rest in Peace.##imported-begin##Vicki Smith Pendleton##imported-end##
