

David H. Porter

July 17, 1971 - November 9, 2013

David H. Porter son of David H. Porter, Jr. and Alva Porter was born on July 17, 1971 in Baltimore, Maryland. He entered his eternal rest on Saturday, November 9, 2013.

David was raised in Baltimore and was educated in the Baltimore City Public School System graduating from Frederick Douglas High School.

Affectionately call "Muppy" by his mother, it became David's familiar nickname by family and friends. Growing up he was a special kid. He had a creative side that was demonstrated in his desire to write poetry. David also had the potential for an architect since he liked to look into designs and see how things fit together. Later, he used his energy and friendly personality as a used car salesman.

David fathered a daughter, Carleisha Murray and a son, David W. Porter. Carleisha was his little angel for twenty-three years, while David was his imaged hero. He loved and cherished both of his children. David also shared a time in his life with a wife of fourteen years, the former Crystal Randall.

Muppy will be remembered as a peacemaker and as quite a ladies' man. Muppy would always make certain everyone was okay. He put others before himself. Once he made you a friend, you was his friend for life. He would even make his enemies into his friends. He loved his family. He always called his mother his queen and his first love. He honored and adored her. David also loved and respected his late grandparents, William and Kate Porter. In their eyes, David could do no wrong.

David will be sorely missed, especially by his only brother, Sean. They were inseparable with a bond that cannot be broken even in death.

David leaves to cherish his memory, his loving mother, Alva Porter and father, David Porter, Jr; stepfather, James Revell; his one and only brother, Sean McGowens; a daughter, Caleisha Murray, and her mother Lateisha Crosby; a son, David W. Porter and his mother, Tonya Holman; one grandfather, Isaac Jackson; his very special friend, Jameel Johnson; and a host of aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews, cousins, and other relatives and friends.

“ Muppy, I know this is late but I couldn't bring myself to admit that you're gone. You were just on an extended vacation. You are my brother and are sorely missed. You made the world a better place and me a better person. You restored my faith in people. You showed that it mattered not the coast I was on loyalty, honor, respect, morals and true character existed on both, you possessed them . God called you cause He missed one of his best creations. And He needed a laugh and someone to lift weights with. I know that you and Tookie are getting it in. Together we came up with R.O.C. a way to give our kids a piece of you. Thanks for giving me piece of you brother. I love you and miss you bro,

“ To the family of David H. Porter:
Please accept my sincere condolences for your loss. Death is the enemy of all mankind, yet when it touches us personally, few seek the comfort they search for. The doctrines that are taught concerning death find their origins from men and not the Bible. As a result, they fail to leave those who are grieving with comfort or a hope. They do however, leave many with unanswered questions. The response that "God works in mysterious ways" or that "God needed another angel", does not satisfy the spiritual needs of those who are grieving. However, many have found comfort in the pages of God's word the Bible (2 Corinthians 1:3, 4). In God's word we find the promise that we can be reunited with our loved ones (John 5:28,29; Acts 24:15). The Bible tells us where this happy reunion will take place (Psalm 37: 11, 29; Matthew 5:5). We are told why we die (Genesis 3:17-19; Romans 5:12), and that the God of the Bible will end death forever (Isaiah 25:8; Revelation 21:3,4). Learning the truth about Jehovah, the God of the Bible (Psalm 83:18), God's Kingdom (Daniel 2:44), and the state of those who have died (Ecclesiastes 9:5), is the start to finding true comfort concerning loved ones who are sleeping in death (John 11:11-14; John 8:32). “ I'm so sorry for your loss and would like to offer my condolences to your family. Death is such a terrible thing for a family to go through, I actually lost my mom about 4yrs ago. I'm truly grateful that I have the truth about death and look forward to the future when there will be a resurrection of both the righteous and the unrighteous.”—
ACTS 24:15. I'm sure you would love to see your dead loved one again in the coming Paradise here on earth! Again so sorry for your loss!!

“ Although you are no longer with us in the flesh, you will always be my heart.. I have many great childhood memories with you not to mention the scar on my chin you gave me when we were 12 years old.. Until we meet again dear friend I know you'll find me because you always do.. My sincerest condolences to the family for your lost, "Weeping May Endure for a Night, but Joy will come in the morning".

It May Have Taken Me some time to share how I feel, but you knew I would. I will forever have a void in my life that will never be filled because your were the only person that fill that. Muppy, you were my heart and soul but I know you knew that. Mommy and I are missing you like crazy but you always told me "c'mon yo I gotta spread my wings" And my only reply would be "I heard that". I ask your nephew Aydin "who is this on this picture and he says clear as day "that's uncle Muppy". I understand GOD makes no mistakes so with that being said I never questioned his will. I had you for 30 yrs so I couldn't be selfish and question GOD, so I simply said "ok you're needed up there your job is done here" and you definitely did a great one down here. Listen Playboy I'm not gonna talk your head off I just wanted to show you some Brotherly Love to let you Know I love you.....
