

Deborah Davis

August 12, 1960 - July 29, 2018

Deborah Davis, known to most as "Debbie," was born on August 12, 1960 in Baltimore, Maryland. Surrounded by her loving family, she transitioned to eternity with her Lord on July 29, 2018 at age 57.

In 1977, Debbie graduated from Southwest High School in Baltimore, Maryland. She later continued her education at the Community College of Baltimore.

Debbie was a dedicated mother to her one and only child and adored by her grandchildren, who affectionately called her, "Ma." She helped raise her grandchildren and always put them first. She was the perfect example of a selfless person and one who always demonstrated unconditional love. Described as generous, warm, kindhearted, trusting, and loving, she will immensely missed by all who knew and loved her.

She delighted in cooking and hosting. She was the "world's greatest cook" to family and friends. Her fried chicken and potato salad were second to none.

Debbie will be remembered best for the things that vividly characterized her life: She loved shopping, listening to music (her favorite artists were Aretha Franklin, Johnny Taylor, Bobby Bland and Otis Redding), dancing, watching TV and being teased by her daughter, son-in-law and grandchildren.

Those left to cherish precious memories include her daughter, Mary Fullwood; son-in-law, Harlow Fullwood; four grandchildren, Tanea, Albert, Kennedi and Noah; four sisters, Gertrude White, Mary Pearson, Evelyn Davis and Queen Jackson; one brother-in-law, Willie Pearson, three aunts, Estelle Glover and Susie Mae Brunson of Summerton, South Carolina; and Lillie Mae Davis of Baltimore, Maryland; and a host of nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.
