“ To the family and friends, I offer my condolences. It truly is unfortunate that we must experience the sorrow associated with the loss of one we love. May you find comfort and strength from the "God of all comfort" (2 Corinthians 1:3,4) who promises at Isaiah 66:13, "Like a man whom his own mother keeps comforting, so I myself shall keep comforting you people."###imported-begin##Gwen Winston###imported-end##

“ I send my warm and sincere condolences to the family during this most difficult time. I really feel bad for you, because I know how hard it is to lose a loved one. It truly hurts like nothing else we go through in this life. We can't help but wonder, will I really see my loved one again? Many centuries ago the bible man Job asked that same question. At Job 14:14 he asked, "If an able-bodied man dies can he live again? Notice the answer at verse 15. Job says, "You will call, and I myself will answer you. "For the work of your hands you will have a yearning. Yes Job knew that once he died he could indeed live again, because he knew that God yearns to see his loyal ones come to life again. Jehovah created life and he hates death, and he promises at 1st Cor 15:26 that he will do away with this enemy forever. One day Della will rise from the grave, because she will hear the voice of our saviour, Christ Jesus, and she will come to life again. May the promise of the resurrection bring much comfort to you to help you to cope with the passing of your loved one. John 5:28,29###imported-begin##R Johnson###imported-end##
