

Delores Alston

October 30, 1949 - November 26, 2018

Delores Alston, who we all know and love was born in Richmond, Virginia on October 30, 1949, the daughter of Clara Alston and the late David Alston.

Delores attended Virginia Randolph High School where she graduated and studied Cosmetology. Over the years she worked diligently to take care of her two girls and finally retiring from Henrico County Public Schools. She returned to her love of cosmetology where she worked part-time at Salon of Elegance. One of her many passions was serving as a member of St. James Baptist Church where she held and participated in Ladies of Auxiliary Doorkeepers, Pastoral Care Ministry, Pistol Sheepfold Leader, Sunday School Teacher and Voices of Praise Choir.

Our beloved left this earth loving God and everyone around her on November 26, 2018 being called home to the gates of Heaven to have eternal life. She touched the lives of many and memories will live on as an extension of all as our hearts continue to beat.

She leaves to cherish memories to her two daughters, Samantha (Arthur Jr.) Siler and Torsann (Ralph Jr.) Booker; five grandchildren, Arthur III, Adam, Autumn, Alston Siler, and Mekhi Booker; three great-grandchildren, Elijah, Ginger, and Tigerlily Siler; mother, Clara Alston; three sisters, Dorthylee Jones, Lucille Cephas and Geneva Alston; and a host of other loving relatives and friends.

“ I met your mom about 3 years ago at the beauty shop. Being close in age and having retired from the public school setting, we were able to bond immediately and share many stories. She was truly a kind person who loved to joke and bring a smile to everyone. I will miss her and I will pray for your strength during these difficult days. I am sure we will all see "Miss Cookie" again.

“ I am going to miss you Aunt Cookie. Your magical hands and your words of encouragement and wisdom are just a few of your qualities. You were a beautiful spirit every time I came in Cookie's shop. My mom and I (who you always asked about) will keep your family in our loving prayers. Rest on beautiful!!
