

Delroy F. Stewart

January 23, 1976 - March 19, 2003

Delroy F. Stewart, known as “ Tony” to his family and friends. The son of Ucal and the late Icilda Lewis. From the island of Jamaica in the West Indies. Delroy came to America to join his father and stepmother in Baltimore. He attended Hampstead Hill Jr. High in Baltimore. His Senior High School years were spent at Handle High School in Winchester, Virginia where he graduated in 1987. Delroy was blessed with one son Delico Stewart who was a daily part of his life. Not only was he good to his son he was a provider to Tiffany the child’s mother. On March 19, 2003 Delroy “Tony” Stewart departed his life. He leaves to mourn a sister, Sandra Stewart, who was also his best friend. They came to America together. He also leaves his father Ucal Stewart who both share a very strong bond, his stepmother, Naomi Finch also known as “Miss D” whom he also shared a special bond with. He also leaves two nieces, Tashana Morrison and Joaddie Robeson, a nephew Damine Stewart, one stepbrother, Eric Finch. And a host of friends and family. Delroy never met a stranger. He grinned and cracked jokes with any one that he met. Those who knew him knew that he would give anything to help a fellow friend in need. Delroy had a heart of gold and the soul of a lion. He will be missed. God grant me the Serenity, To Accept the things I can’t change; Th Courage to change the things I can, And Wisdom to know the difference.

“ If whoever took your life,knew how many lives they've taken when they took your's, should have think first, before they did what they've done. Delroy,it's still hard to bear you're not here with us. Your death has left me into depression that is tugging my spirit down. It's hard for me to accept such loss, when pain has my heart wrapped in tears. But I'll make it through this stressfull time, knowing the dark days don't last forever. Time is always moving, soon the shadows will fade and lift the weight. The sun in hiding now, but will rise and shine again. I love u Delroy! “ You came as quickly as you left, So young and full of life no time to say good bye, Oh my sweet butterfly, You were the gently breeze on a hot summer day The rainbow after the rain You flew everywhere you weren't afraid to spread your winds and fly If I listened clearly I can still hear your laughter, see your smile and feel your pain They took you away from me but they cannot take away the sweet memories Earth angle you flew away to get bigger wings above, Now you are watching from heaven my angel of love.
