“ Today makes a year since my mothers passing. This have been a very rough year for me and my siblings. Not being able to just pop up and go see her anymore, not able to call and ask how shes doing. Or just complain about what one of us is not doing or suppose to do. I miss us hanging out.I have a lot of great memories but sometimes memories don't be enough when you just want to reach out and hug someone.

Mom, I love you and miss you a whole lot. Damon and Daekwon does too. I just wish..... (a lot of things that I can't change)

“*To the family of Doreen Black:
Please accept my sincere condolences for your loss. Death is the enemy of all mankind, yet when it touches us personally, few seek the comfort they search for. The doctrines that are taught concerning death find their origins from men and not the Bible. As a result, they fail to leave those who are grieving with comfort or a hope. They do however, leave many with unanswered questions. The response that "God works in mysterious ways" or that "God needed another angel", does not satisfy the spiritual needs of those who are grieving. However, many have found comfort in the pages of God's word the Bible (2 Corinthians 1:3, 4). In God's word we find the promise that we can be reunited with our loved ones (John 5:28,29; Acts 24:15). The Bible tells us where this happy reunion will take place (Psalm 37: 11, 29; Matthew 5:5). We are told why we die (Genesis 3:17-19; Romans 5:12), and that the God of the Bible will end death forever (Isaiah 25:8; Revelation 21:3,4). Learning the truth about Jehovah, the God of the Bible (Psalm 83:18), God's Kingdom (Daniel 2:44), and the state of those who have died (Ecclesiastes 9:5), is the start to finding true comfort concerning loved ones who are sleeping in death (John 11:11-14; John 8:32). Oh my, I grieve my Heart to hear of the passing of my friend. I remember the last time I saw her we was at Melba's, I got her out on the dance floor and we cut a rug. I so fell in love with her the first time I met her, that smile could light up a room. God has an angel with Him now. She will truly be missed. Rest my Sweet Doreen Rest.

I pray that God's Loving Arms will comfort you & give you strength and guidance during this difficult time. Although the angels have called your Mother home. Try to brave the bitter grief and hold onto God's unchanging hands. He heals the broken hearted and binds up their wounds. Psalm 147:3
