“ I am so late and didn't know but, this is so sad to hear! I was really looking forward to you being my professor and being able to learn from him. Very nice, smart and talented man. May he continue to rest in peace. My thoughts and prayers go out to his family, friends, students and co-workers.

I've just learned that your husband's painful struggle has ended. I can't even begin to understand what you and your family are feeling, but I wanted to let you know that I am thinking of you. I'm sorry I never had the opportunity to meet Duane, but I know what a beautiful person you were as a child, are as an adult, and shall remain, until God calls you home. Your soul mate would be no less of a person. Please know that I am praying for peace and comfort for your entire family.

“ Mr Calloway, thank you so much for sharing your life with our family. The Lord allowed our paths to cross at a time we needed direction and there you were, on that path leading and helping. We will truly miss you and so grateful that Jesus granted us the time we shared. Bless your family, we love you all.

“ RIP to my professor, mentor, former manager, and friend Duane Calloway. I would have never made it through the mortuary science program without him. Professor Calloway saw promise in me when no one else did and advocated for me when the deck was stacked against me. I know he are in a better place but I also know that he will be deeply missed. As Professor Calloway always said at the end of every class and conversation “Always remember, on the way out, be sure to shake every man’s hand, hug the ladies, kiss the babies and wish everyone a very fond farewell.”
