

Elsie Beatrice Stewart

June 6, 1940 - September 13, 2023

ELSIE BEATRICE STEWART was born on June 6, 1940, in Baltimore, Maryland to the late Beatrice Wilkes Blalock and Herbert Lane Sr. She departed this life on September 13, 2023.

Elsie initially attended Dunbar High School then transferred to Douglass High School and graduated where she later attended Notre Dame of Maryland University.

On August 4, 1970, she married Frederick J. Stewart where they remained in Baltimore City and they raised their two sons.

Elsie was employed at Morgan State University where she worked for acclaimed African American artist, professor, and curator, James E. Lewis in the Morgan State University Museum of Art (now the James E. Lewis Museum of Art). After leaving Morgan State University, she then worked at Johns Hopkins Hospital as an administrative secretary in various departments throughout the hospital until she retired.

She was a devout Christian who dedicated her life to the Lord Jesus Christ. She enjoyed attending church, reading, and studying the word of God. She was a very quiet, respectable, and private person, yet eager to always help others. She enjoyed listening to jazz music and spending time with her children and grandchildren. She was the best wife, mother, and grandmother anyone could ask and she will be sorely missed.

Elsie made numerous friends through the years wherever she went and will be sincerely missed by everyone who loved and knew her.

She is preceded in death by her three sisters: Valerie Robinson, Carolyn Beane, Gladys Mello, and brother, Herbert Lane Jr.

Elsie leaves to cherish her memory: her husband, Frederick J. Stewart, two sons, Frederick J. Stewart, III (Cheryl) and Jeffrey K. Stewart; five grandchildren, Adelaide, Jason, Paige, Lauren, and Peyton; her sister Sylvia Lane; several nieces and nephews, and a host of other relatives and friends.
