

Emory Hanie Shields

August 28, 1938 - September 19, 2001

Emory Hanie Morgan Shields, Sr., son of the late James C. and Marie Morgan Shields, was born on August 28, 1938 in Baltimore, Maryland. He departed this life on September 19, 2001. He was diagnosed with polio at the early age of ten. Through prayer and perseverance, Emory learned to walk again and enjoyed a full and wonderful life. He graduated from Dunbar High Schools in 1957. Excelling in Math and English, he went on to attend Morgan State College. He worked for WBAL-TV for twelve years. He loved sports, especially basketball. Not able to run up and down the basketball courts, he concentrated on shooting the ball. He mastered the jump shot from half court amazing his son's friends and youngsters from area recreation centers. He made friends wherever he went. He loved to entertain those in search of a challenging game of pinochle. He also loved to listen to gospel and jazz music. Entertaining family and friends was most valued. His zest for life was unparalleled. He will be truly missed by all. Emory accepted Christ at a young age while a member a Ebenezer Baptist Church in East Baltimore. He later joined Mt. Carmel where he attended faithfully. He leaves to cherish his memory: his wife; Delores, two sons; Emory Jr., and Sean, one daughter; Erica McGuire, nine grandchildren, Nastassia, Garland, Marcell, Mario, Brittney, Ronald, Bria, Morgan and Nala, two devoted sisters; Alberta Davis and Yvonne Tinsley, two brothers; Joseph and Melvin, special niece; Felicia Davis, special nephew; Adrian Shields, devoted friends; Jean Fletcher and Kenneth Hickson whom Emory loved like a son, two mothers-in-laws; Geneva

Boyd and Hettie Richburg, father-in-law; Lester Richburg and a host of other relatives and friends.
