On Friday, August 21, 2020, Etta S. Brown went home to be with the Lord in eternal peace. Etta was born in Baltimore, Maryland on April 23, 1946, to the proud parents of Junious Warner Sellers, Sr. and Carrie Etta Sellers, who preceded her in death.

“ If I am correct, and I am praying to Heavenly Father above that I am correct! This lady played a major role in helping me turn my life around so many years ago when I went to prison in 1980s. What a truly tremendous child of God and an amazing person Etta surely was and is as she has remained in my heart to this very moment and with so many more too come. Thank you goes to her first and foremost and then to the remaining family members of Mrs. Etta K. Brown. Thank you to you all for just the allowance of observing this angel in action for a simple few moments in time, for she genuinely helped me to feel life, no, feel a life worth valuing and living again. Her lessons that she worked hard at teaching me have and will never ever be allowed to be robbed from me, nor my passing them on to the generations behind me. I shall miss you Etta until we meet again, for you have always been a powerful woman and li was a great honor and privilege to be your student.
