

Eva Mae Gray

January 26, 1934 - June 20, 2017

Eva Mae Gray, daughter of the late Burnetta Gray and McKinley Gray. Eva was born in Halifax, North Carolina . She received her education from Baltimore City Public Schools. She then moved on to start her career at Maryland Messenger. She retired from World Trade Center in Baltimore, Maryland.

Eva was known to the world as “Granny” especially when they were screaming, “Uh Oh Here Come Granny,” Whether it was from the top of Orleans Street coming from Northeast Market or getting off #23 bus coming from work, everyone knew that when you see her and you are near her house that “You don't have to go home but you had to get the hell away from her house”. Trust me you didn't want to be there when she got home (smile).

Granny also loved to cook, We always knew that we were going to have a good Sunday dinner and we always ate as family at 5:00 pm sharp.

Eva was a loving Mother of her 5 children and an even better grandmother. She was very dear to our hearts and we will miss her dearly.

Eva was preceded by death by her 2 sons, Tracey Harrison and Carlton Harrison; 2 sisters, Vivian Gray and Voila Gray; 4 brothers, McKinley Gray, Jr. Herman Gray, William Gray, and Purnell Gray. She still leaves to mourn her 2 daughters, Roxanne Washington, Antoinette Harrison; 1 son son Roger Gray; 5 grand kids; Damion Cooper, Nikki Cooper, Tonia Harrison, Angelo Harrison and Aisha Gray. One niece, Tania Cunningham and a host of great nieces, nephews, cousin and friends
