“ To the Smith Family: You are in my prayers and I extend my deepest condolence to you. Eva was such an accomplished, admirable, honorable, respectable, and principled individual. May her life be a motivation to you and your accomplishments. I also pray that God continues to Bless you with His grace and mercy and that you find peace and serenity in His love.##imported-begin##Sterling D. Tilley##imported-end##

“ Eva was an incredible lady. She was a co-worker and dear friend. I remember telling her once that she was the strongest, most amazing woman I had ever met and my life is better for having known her. I'm so glad I had the opportunity to say those words to her. I admired her and was proud to call her friend. My deepest condolences to her other friends and family. She is truly, truly missed.##imported-begin##Dianne Edwards##imported-end##

“ Eva was a splendid woman, of great intellect and big heart. She was truly my friend. It was my privilege to know her. She combined with her charm an unlimited energy and the highest integrity. Her personality and generous instincts will be missed not only by me but all those she came in contact with. She was a woman of superlatively high standards, and boundless enthusiasm for whatever task she took in hand. No one, whose privilege it was to know her, is likely to forget the candor of her speech, the courage of her faith, the warm and glowing brightness of her friendship. A chapter completed a page well turned; a life well lived, a rest well earned. Gonna miss her much.##imported-begin##Starr Purnell##imported-end##

“ To The Family of Eva Smith: My deepest sympathy to Shawn Smith and family during your time of bereavement. I only knew Eva from our talks on the telephone concerning vehicles and the repair of such. I found her to be a very friendly, outspoken and intelligent person. I always enjoyed our talks and I liked her immediately when I finally met her. I was saddened to learn of her passing and I know she is in "good hands," free from all pain and suffering. Take comfort in remembering her love for each of you and her love of her postal family. God Bless and sustain you all, Gloria Jackson##imported-begin##Gloria Jackson##imported-end##
