

Florence Evelyn Feaster Saunders

November 15, 1956 - January 2, 2002

Florence Evelyn Feaster-Saunders was born the fifth of nine children to the late Mr. Rufus C. Feaster and Mrs. Celeste Shine-Feaster on November 15, 1956 in Brooklyn, New York. She was brought up in the Fort Green community and attended the public schools there. She was married to Andrew Lambus and from that reunion they had two sons, Nickcole Andrew Lambus and Terry Drew Lambus. Florence re-married the late Robert Saunders in Baltimore, Maryland in 1989. Florence volunteered and spent time with the senior citizens in her community. She loved basketball, music and dancing. She also loved to bake and braid hair. There was never any fence too high for her to climb. Florence known as Flo was a fighter in her struggle for life. Florence accepted Christ as her savior at an early age and was brought up in a Christian home. She later became more involved in the church by rededicating herself and was re-baptized on September 9, 2001 at the Believer of Jesus Christ Tabernacle. She learned that Christianity does not exempt one from death; it only ensures triumph over death. There is no other way of entrance into our father's house. She fought a good fight and stayed the course. Those surviving to cherish her fond memories are; her two sons, Nickcole and Terry; one daughter-in-law, Gwendolyn; one grandson-Nicholas her mother, Celeste Feaster; six sisters, Iona Shine, Barbara Ricks, June Mack, Helen Feaster-Bullock, Norma Feaster-Brockman and Mona Feaster; two brothers, Andre Lamont Feaster and Arnold Neale Feaster; one step-brother, James Daniel Neale, Sr.; and a host of aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews, grand-nieces and nephews, brothers-in-law, sisters-in-law, a beloved friend John Palmer who was there for her. Other relatives, church family, friends and co-workers.
