

Floyd Oscar Hawkins

February 2, 1938 - January 18, 2011

FLOYD OSCAR HAWKINS, son of the late Oscar Hawkins and Jessie E. Hawkins, was born on February 2, 1938 in Tuner Station, Maryland. He departed this life on January 18, 2011 after a lengthy illness.

He was educated in the Baltimore City Public School system. He worked a variety of jobs throughout his lifetime. His last job was at a winery.

At the age of 16, Floyd became a father. Floyd Oscar Hawkins, Jr. was born to him and the late Beatrice Barnett. He later met and married Betty Irving. From this union was born a daughter, Sonia Hawkins.

He spent the last fifteen years in the home of his son, Floyd O. Hawkins, Jr. It was there that he started his heavenly home. He was a much loved and valued member of the household.

Floyd (Pop) Hawkins was what his daughter-in-law Barbara referred to as "pill", sometimes hard to swallow. He always had something "smart" to say, but to know him was to love him. East Baltimore was his home, his stomping grounds. Most of his family and friends are from here so in every sense of the word, he has come home.

He leaves to mourn: his twin sister, Francis, one son, Floyd Oscar Hawkins,

Jr.; on daughter, Sonia Hawkins; grandchildren, niece, nephews, and a host of relatives and friends.
