“ Please accept my condolences for the loss of your dear loved one. Acts 24:15 lovingly declares "There is going to be a resurrection". May you receive much comfort and strength from this wonderful promise of Jehovah God and his only-begotten son Jesus Christ. “ Although we love to hold on to a love forever, "time changes all things". The joy I receive today is the thought of Ms Margaret having her boys forever.##imported-begin##Yolanda Hill##imported-end##

“ To the Evans family, please accept my sincere sympathy on the passing of your loved one. The Bible holds a promise from God, who says "he will wipe out death forever", Isaiah 25:8. For those who have been lost in death he promises a "resurrection" John 5: 28, 29.##imported-begin##Marilynn Wright##imported-end##

“ May your family please accept my sincere sympathy for your loss. I know how hard this must be for you all, but know that our loving heavenly father is always there for you at such times to comfort you and strengthen you with his love. The bible can also be a great source of comfort, because it offers us the hope of how we will see our loved ones again. Rev 21:4 tells us this, "And he will wipe out every tear from their eyes and death will be no more, neither will mourning nor outcry nor pain be anymore. "The former things have passed away. Also Acts 24:15 promises that there will be a resurrection of both the righteous and the unrighteous." May the hope of seeing Fred alive again bring joy to your hearts as you remember the good times you shared with him over the years.##imported-begin##R Johnson##imported-end##
