

Geraldine James

January 6, 1938 - September 14, 2002

Geraldine James, beloved daughter of Wilbur and Viola Yancy was born on January 6, 1938 in Lexington, Georgia. She departed this life on Saturday, September 14, 2002 after a lengthy illness. In 1938 Geraldine and her family moved from Lexington, Georgia to Baltimore, Maryland. She received her education from the Baltimore City Public Schools. Geraldine worked for many at GBMC. Geraldine married the late Jessie James. From this union came a loving and devoted son, Ronald. At an early age, Geraldine gave her life to Christ, joining Oak Street Baptist Church. Prior to her illness she worshiped with Second Baptist Church. She made numerous friends wherever she went. If you ever met or knew Geraldine it would be just like you hit "B-I-N-G-O!" She was a wonderful caring soul who loved the game as well as her family and friends. Devoted, mother, sister, grandmother, friend. Geraldine's legacy of love will be forever cherished by her son Ronald (Carolyn) James; Ulysses Yancy; granddaughters, Ronnica and Mykia James, a host of cousins, nieces, nephews, numerous special and caring friends and a host of relatives across the country.

“ Healing happens slowly over weeks and months and years and even then, there will be days when memories call fresh tears. A song, a scent, or photograph keeps your heart in touch; with all that you so treasured in the one you miss so much.##imported-begin##The March Family and Staff##imported-end##
