

Geraldo Palmer

August 29, 1974 - November 26, 2022

Geraldo Palmer, also known as Boo, Apple and Apple Scrap, was born on August 29, 1974 in Baltimore, Maryland to Linda H. Johnson and Geraldo G, Palmer. November 26, 2022, God called him home. Geraldo attended St. Frances and Overlea High School, where he not only excelled academically, but also excelled effortlessly in basketball. In 1993 he placed as runner up for Baltimore County's player of the year. Geraldo was also known to be quite a jokester. He was always the funny guy with friends and family, so he decided to hone in on his craft and become a Comedian Apple Scrap. He did comedy shows all over Baltimore. He hosted comedy events, as well as his own comedy show titled "The Rap to Scrap" show. He started a magazine titled "Scrapbook" where he'd advertise many business owners. He was the proud owner of Scrapbook Ent.

In his career as a mental health advocate, he held a position as part of the "Direct Care Staff". Geraldo was very passionate about his work. He had almost 30 clients that he assisted. He cared for his clients just as he cared for his loved ones. He was working on getting his "Dreams To Reality" healthcare business up and running. Since receiving certification from the Department of Psychiatry he was motivated to build on his accomplishments.

Gerald was preceded in death by his father Geraldo Palmer, his mother Linda H. Johnson and his sister Antoinette Wilson. He leaves to cherish his memories; his daughter Shadaer Palmer, his son Marlin Ames, two grandsons, Jamil and Jahad, The mother of his children Quiana Faith Ames, two aunt, Belinda Hudson, Theresa Jordan and a host of cousins and close friends. Geraldo was known and loved by many.
