It breaks my heart that such a beautiful, strong, funny and joyous person. Gina had the biggest heart and so much light to share with the world. I'm happy that she's no longer in pain but I'll miss her wisdom, our talks and her spirit in this world.

“ I have so many memories of Gina and her mother Liz from my 26 years at Loyola. Both women were such kind and good souls. I consider myself truly blessed to have known them both as co-workers and as FRIENDS. I remember I was probably about 25 years old, my first year on the job at Loyola. Gina was helping me with a project - it was my first interaction with her and she looked at me and said, "You have the face of a China doll". I said to her, "You have the smile of an angel". We were buds from that day forward. We had great fun sharing office space many years later in one of the houses near campus and what fun we had... playing jokes on each other and telling jokes by just calling them out from up or downstairs, sharing coffee in the kitchen. Priceless times....

Whenever I see a butterfly, I think of Liz
Now, whenever I hear someone's spontaneous/sincere laughter, I'll think of Gina

I pray they are reunited with God and giving each other a big hug and having a good laugh together.

With love,
