

Hamilton Dupree

August 26, 1952 - June 28, 2002

Hamilton, also known as Al, was born August 26, 1952 in Baltimore, Maryland, the son of Arthur and Georgeann Dupree. Hamilton was educated in the Baltimore City Public Schools for a very short time. Later he went to trade school to become a Master Plumber. He worked for the Housing Authority for many years, while establishing his career. After leaving the Housing Authority, Hamilton worked for Blue Ridge Oil Company, in Baltimore for more than ten years. He was so good and always knew what to do with his knowledge of furnaces, boilers, plumbing and electrical work. People would call his home late at night telling him they did not have heat. Often he would leave his bed so they would be warm. I am sure that many of you here can attest to that. Hamilton had a good heart with compassion once he heard that someone was without heat, especially small children. Hamilton met and married Jerri Ann Keaton Dupree in December 1990. His wife Jerri, whom he loved so much, preceded him in death in March 1996. Hamilton went home with the Lord on June 28, 2002. He leaves to celebrate his life: his mother; Ameedah Abdullah; two sisters, Hana and L'Ameenah Abdullah; two brothers David and Mitchell; Two children, James and Michele, two stepchildren, Shoska Lynn and Nathan Edwards; two sisters-in-law, Karen Myers and Diane Thomas; his mother-in-law, Geraldine Cromwell; cousin, Nathan Dupree; and a host of relatives and many, many dear friends. TO MY BROTHER My salutations to you, my dear brother, my love, my boy, my boo. WE come here to honor, to thank you and to celebrate your life. To remember you and to realize that life is oh so dear. How precious Allah's (God) gift of having you here with us. How you helped others and comforted them with your talents when they needed you most. We miss you, my friend my brother. Farewell and be at peace.
