

Harold L. Tuck (Lump)

December 7, 1951 - July 10, 2003

Harold L. Tuck, known as "Lump" to many, was born on December 7, 1951 to Vilma Tuck and the late Foster Tuck. He departed this life on July 10, 2003 after a very long battle with cancer. He received his education at Baltimore City College and Dunbar High School. He was a football star and was offered several full scholarships from various colleges. In 1973, Lump married the former Brenda M. Hall, and out of this union one child was born, Donna. In 1971, he was employed at Bethlehem Steel. He was a dedicated employee for twenty-nine and a half years. He was forced to take an early retirement due to the severity of his illness. Lump was a very strong and courageous person. He was well respected by all and will be remembered for his wonderful personality, beautiful smile and his laughter. He was a sincere friend and a devoted family man. He leaves to mourn: his wife, Brenda Tuck; one daughter, Donna Hannah; two grandchildren, Taylor Hannah and Kenneth Hannah Jr.; son-in-law, Kenneth Hannah; five brothers, Melvin, Foster, Lester, Wimpfred and Otis. He also leaves to mourn a host of other relatives and friends. He will be joined with his sisters, the late Alma Miller and Velma Grayson.
