“ To the family of Mrs. Peebles. I woul like to extend my sincerest sympathies to your family. It sounds like Mrs. Peebles had a zest for life. While it is sad and painful to hear of the death of a loved one. To reflect on the joy's brought on by her life is comforting. Something else that brings comfort are the promises Jehovah God has made to us by means of his written word. For example, in the Book of Acts 24:15, The Apostle Paul stated that there will be a resurrection of the righteous and unrighteous people. That means that we will see them in the flesh again. They will be healthy, youthful, and will be full of vital energy! How does that sound to you? Other scriptures like John 5:28,29, Psalms 37:9,10, and 29, as well as Revelation 21:3,4, are all wonderful promises made by Jehovah God. In your spare time, please enjoy reading them for yourself. Thank you for your time and attention. Sincerely, Vernon Williams##imported-begin##Vernon Williams##imported-end##

“ Dear family of Hazel, may Jehovah God comfort you at this difficult time. Losing a loved one is certainly most difficult to deal with, and sadly, all of us will lose loved ones sooner or later. Yet no matter how many of family members die, death is something we never get used to. The reason why, is that God never intended for us to die in the first place. Ecc 3:11 tells us that God has even put time-indefinite into our hearts. So noone wants to die. We all want to live everlasting, which is a natural desire. One day that desire will be fulfilled, because Jehovah promises that he will undo what Adam did to us, by means of the ransom paid by his son, Jesus. As 1st Cor 15:22 tells us, "For just as in Adam all are dying, so also in the Christ, all will be made alive." Isiah 55:11 lets us know that everything Jehovah says will come true, and his word never returns to him without results. When he says the dead will live again, we can rest assured that this will certainly take place. Until that day comes, let your precious memories of Hazel bring fond and joyous thoughts to your hearts, as you remember the happy times you spent with her. Take care family, and may you be comforted.##imported-begin##R Johnson##imported-end##
