March 6, 1926 - September 13, 2003

Helen L. Brown, daughter of the late John Henry and Bessie A. Williams was born on March 6, 1926, in Salisbury Maryland. She departed this life on September 13, 2003 after a lengthy illness. She came to Baltimore at an early age and attended the local schools, and graduated from the Calvert Educational Center in 1960. Always interested in helping people, she held family service jobs in New York, Massachusetts and New Jersey. Later on in life she transferred to the Baltimore City Public School System, to become Cashier Manager. She and her husband Charles R. Brown enjoyed a long and joyous life traveling throughout the United States. Although she spent a lot of time with family and friends, her rule was to put Christ first in all things. She took great pride in her work in the meal kitchen activities, clothes distribution, and food baskets for the needy. She leaves to cherish her memory: a loving and devoted husband, Charles R. Brown Sr.; one son, Charles R. Brown Jr.; two daughters, Mrs. Mary E. McLean and Mrs. Dorothy D. Robinson; one brother, Mr. Homer T. Williams Sr. of Salisbury, Maryland; two sons-in-law, Alvis C. McLean and James W. Robinson; one daughter-in-law, Jean Brown; thirteen grandchildren, fourteen great-grandchildren, three great-great grandchildren; a special daughter, Millie Oliver; and a host of nieces, nephews, and other relatives and friends.
